SUBJECT: Emerson Chile Earthquake Update

I have received many inquiries asking about the well-being of our employees and operations in Chile since the devastating earthquake last Saturday. Let me begin by saying that Emerson has 23 employees in Chile and all of them and their families are OK. We are in the process of assessing the hardships to our employees and will quickly determine what type of help they need to get back on their feet.

Individual Emerson employees who would like to make cash donations to the overall relief effort in Chile may do so directly to the American Red Cross International Response Fund using the following link to the local Red Cross website www.redcross.org. Donations to the Red Cross will benefit all victims in the country and can be made via credit card or PayPal.

Carlos Di Brico has established a Crisis Management Team in Chile to ensure our employees are taken care of and to re-start operations ASAP. I would like to give special recognition to this team for the great job they are doing. The team's early assessment of the situation is below.

Chilean Operation

The following Emerson Business Units have operations in one shared services office building in (Santiago) Chile: Network Power, Process Management, US Motors, General Signal (IA) and Tools.

Emerson's office building suffered damage but at this time, we do not know the level and impact of the structural damages. We are in the process of getting a technical assessment of how quickly the building can be repaired. The office is closed for now and we are in the process of setting up an alternative office arrangement.
